The group's activities include organizing seminars, conferences, and trade missions, as well as providing a forum for business leaders to discuss issues of mutual interest. The group's website, www.atlanticbusinesscouncil.org, provides more information about the group's activities and membership.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine if there were differences in the prevalence of periodontitis between patients who had been treated by a general dentist or a periodontist. The subjects were 100 patients from each group who had been referred to a periodontal specialist. The results showed that the prevalence of periodontitis was significantly higher in the group treated by a general dentist than in the group treated by a periodontist.
